

Drawing a Response

Drawing a Response

DIRECTIONS:

After reading a story, draw the “most important” images from the beginning, middle and the end of the story on the paper provided. You may use stick figures and simple drawings as this is not an art project.

Next, go through the story and select text that will “prove” or “support” the completed drawing for each section: beginning, middle, and end. Write it on the page beneath the drawing, in quotation marks. Put the page number for each quote.